

Distance Instructors: Assigning Invigilated Exams

Are you teaching a COTR distance course? You probably are if...

- 100% of the learning for your course can be completed off-campus
- You are using the internet or correspondence materials for most of your delivery
- You do not use campus classrooms for lectures, labs, or tutorials.
- Your course is hosted through COTROnline

Do you require an invigilated (supervised) exam or midterm?

Some distance instructors do not require invigilated exams. Grades for these courses are calculated from work on assignments, essays, participation in online discussions, online teamwork projects, online quizzes, or open-book tests. Some courses do require invigilated exam sessions in order to maintain articulation agreements. These exams may be scheduled (for semester courses) or unscheduled (for directed studies courses).

If you do require invigilated exams...

Information about exams must be detailed in your Course Outline or Syllabus; bring this to your students' attention during the first week of the course. Make sure that your students have copies of the information sheet Distance Students: Writing Exams, and the Distance Student Exam Application. If you require your students to take exams at scheduled times, ensure that your students are aware of these restrictions at least 6 weeks before the exam date(s).

Where students write depends on where they live:

- If the student lives within 100 km. of any COTR campus, s/he should write the exam at the nearest COTR campus location, invigilated by you or designated COTR staff.
- If the student lives further than 100 km. from any COTR campus, s/he must make arrangements to write the exam at a suitable location. Suitable locations include other public post-secondary institutions, elementary or high schools, or public libraries.
- If the student is unable to write the exam at a recognized educational institution or public library, s/he must contact the Instructor to suggest an alternative invigilation location.

Exams invigilated off-campus

- Students who will be writing off-campus are directed to send a copy of their completed Distance Student Exam Application to the Instructor.
- Send the exam package (including Distance Student Invigilator's Statement, exam instructions for both student and invigilator directly to the invigilator. Send the exam package early enough such that the Invigilator receives the package at least 48 hours prior to the exam time.

Exams invigilated on-campus

Whenever possible, you are expected to schedule exams so that you can invigilate local students yourself. Student Services staff can provide on-campus invigilation only for individual students whose extenuating circumstances prevent them from attending the scheduled exam time. Student Services staff need adequate advance notice so that they can accommodate your testing requirements:

- Please complete one copy of the following form for each COTR campus in which you will have students writing. Be sure to identify any required accommodations for disabilities.
- Deliver the form, at least 2 weeks before your exam date, to the appropriate COTR campus (deliver to Student Services if your students will use the Cranbrook campus).
- Ensure that the invigilator has sufficient copies of your exam available at least one week prior to your scheduled exam. Whenever possible, please include your exam copies when you submit the following form.
